ABSTRACT

VINA DESTRIANA. 2024. "INVESTIGATING STUDENT-TEACHER'S EXPERIENCES IN TEACHING ENGLISH DURING KAMPUS MENGAJAR PROGRAM TO SUPPORT TEACHER PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT: AN AUTOBIOGRAPHICAL NARRATIVE INQUIRY". English Education Department. Faculty of Educational Sciences and Teachers' Training. Siliwangi University. Tasikmalaya.

In teacher professional development studies, attention is generally limited to how student teachers' experiences build their professionalism. Based on this fact, this study aims to investigate how a teacher education student's experience teaching English during the sixth-year of the Kampus Mengajar program at a primary school can build her professionalism as a prospective teacher. This study uses a qualitative method with an autobiographical narrative inquiry research design where the study participant is myself. This study explores my teaching experience in three main activities: 1) pre-active phase of teaching, 2) inter-active phase of teaching, and 3) post-active phase of teaching. The data were collected from weekly notes and weekly Kampus Mengajar reports which were analyzed by narrative analysis structure. The results of this study revealed that my experience in teaching English during the Kampus Mengajar program was able to build my professionalism as a future teacher. Ultimately, the contribution of this study is to facilitate the development of prospective teachers' professionalism based on teaching experience as a means to build teachers' professional development.
