

PREFACE

This study entitled “Exploring EFL Students’ Perceptions toward the General English E-Learning Training Program Held by a University Language Centre in Indonesia” was submitted as partial fulfillment of the requirements for attaining Sarjana Pendidikan Degree at English Education Department, Faculty of Educational Sciences and Teachers’ Training, Siliwangi University, Tasikmalaya. The selected participants in this research were four undergraduate students who have attended one of the E-Learning English training programs called “General English for Students (GES)” in 2021. This study was filled with background information, literature review, and methodology. The background information provided a context related to the E-learning English training program, a gap, formulation of the problems, significance of the research, and aims of the research. The literature review provided a brief discussion about the E-learning English training program. The research design used in this study was exploratory case study. Furthermore, the data collected through semi-structured interviews, and was analysed by thematic analysis.

Therefore, I will greatly receive any kind of suggestions and criticism from the readers. Finally, I hope this research will be useful for the researcher and the readers.
