

ABSTRACT

The Effect of Quality Control and Raw Material Inventory Control on Product Quality

By :

Alif Faiz Riyaadh
NPM. 183402150

Guide I : Kartawan

Guide II : Lucky Radi Rinandiyana

The purpose of this study was to determine quality control, raw material inventory control, and product quality at the Syamil Garment company and to analyze the effect of quality control and raw material inventory control on product quality at the Syamil Garment company.

The research method used was a survey method, the data were obtained directly by conducting interviews and requesting data from the Syamil Garment company. While the analysis tool used is multiple regression.

Based on the results of the study it is known that quality control at the Syamil Garment company is in a good classification, raw material inventory control at the Syamil Garment company is classified as good, product quality at the Syamil Garment company is in a good classification, then quality control and raw material inventory control directly and indirectly affect positive effect on product quality at the Syamil Garment company

Keywords: Quality Control; Raw material inventory control; product quality.