

ABSTRACT

DENA SEPTIANI 2025. Parents' Efforts in Preventing Social Deviations Adolescents in Awisari - Cikoneng. Departement of Community Education, Faculty of Teacher Training and Education, Siliwangi University, Tasikmalaya.

Government has a vision of "Golden Indonesia" which is targeted to be achieved by 2045, a multisectoral approach that addresses adolescent holistically is needed. But in the era of globalization, social deviance is a challenge for the nation's generation. In this case, the role of parents is indispensable to prevent social deviance in their children. The purpose of this research is to find out the efforts of parents' efforts in preventing social deviance in adolescents. The research method uses descriptive qualitative, through interviews, observation and documentation. The results showed that the efforts of parents in Awisari Hamlet, Cikoneng Village include: 1) Parents with children of prosocial apply mindfull parenting and gentle parenting in training problem solving, effective communication and integrity. Support for the Bif five personality, positive affirmation, providing a non-harsh and non-soft attitude in shaping self-concept, providing exemplary and communication-based supervision, developing three dimensions of character with religious values and empathy values, applying authoritarian, authoritative and negligent parenting. 2) Parents with children risky behavior combine authoritative and permissive parenting in practicing problem solving, effective communication and integrity. Support for Big five personality, reprimand and direction in forming self-concept, provide exemplary and observational based supervision, develop three dimensions of character through the value of responsibility. Applying authoritative, neglectfull and permissive parenting. In conclusion, parental efforts play an important role in shaping character, morals and self-concept in adolescents to prevent social deviance.

Keywords: Parents Efforts, Social Deviations, Teenagers