

PREFACE

This thesis entitled “Teachers’ Challenges and Solutions on Teaching English to the Alpha Generation in Indonesia” is submitted as partial fulfilment of the requirements for attaining sarjana pendidikan degree at English Education Department, Faculty of Educational Sciences and Teachers’ Training, Siliwangi University, Tasikmalaya

The completion of this thesis would not have been possible without the support and guidance of many individuals. The writer would like to express sincere gratitude to both Supervisor I, Dra. Dede Pertamina, M.Pd., and Supervisor II, Rahmat, S.Pd., M.Hum., for their invaluable insights, suggestions, and continuous encouragement throughout the writing process.

The writer also wishes to thank all participants who willingly shared their experiences and perspectives, which became the core of this study. Deep appreciation is extended to family and friends for their unwavering moral and emotional support during the research process.

This thesis aims to examine the distinct challenges encountered by teachers when instructing English to the Alpha Generation, a cohort profoundly influenced by rapid technological advancements. By identifying both the obstacles and the innovative solutions employed by educators, this study will contribute meaningful insights to the ongoing improvement of English language teaching in Indonesia.

This thesis cannot be accomplished without support from several people around the writer. Therefore, the writer conveys sincere gratitude to them in the acknowledgement section. Lastly, the researcher accepts all suggestions and criticisms from the readers. The researcher hopes this research can be useful for the readers.
