6. To my first love, my father, Imron Farid, and the door to my heaven, my mother, Dede Khoerillah, thank you for all your sacrifices and sincere love. Though they never had the opportunity to pursue higher education, they always strived to give their best, tirelessly praying and offering support so that the author could complete their studies and earn a bachelor's degree. This degree is dedicated to my beloved parents. May my father and mother always be granted good health, a long life, eternal happiness, and abundant blessings to support my two younger siblings in reaching the university level as well.
7. To the author's two younger siblings, Itsna Tsamrotul Fuadah and Nazlan Syahril Akbar, thank you. Because of you, the author has a high motivation to complete this study to motivate you as well. Hopefully, one day you will also be able to attend college and achieve your dreams.

8. The researcher's special thanks go to my friends from the beginning of college (Regina, Nesa, Ai, Adhif) for their companionship, discussions, and shared experiences that have added color to this journey toward success.
9. Special thanks go to a friend of the researcher, Cahyati, for always lending a helping hand, lending an ear, and offering kind words of encouragement.
10. A word of thanks and appreciation to myself, Firda Marya Ulfa, for taking on the responsibility of completing this research. Thank you for always celebrating yourself up to this point, even though you often feel discouraged by what you are trying to achieve, but have not yet succeeded. Thank you for being a person who always tries and remains brave enough to keep trying. To the person whose name is unknown but is already written in the lauhul mahfudz, thank you for being one of the motivations for the researcher to immediately complete her efforts to improve herself. This thesis is proof that no man accompanied the researcher in her struggle to complete this thesis. May we meet the best version of you and the best version of the researcher.
