

PREFACE

All Praises to Allah subhānahu wata‘ālā for the gracious mercy and tremendous blessing that enabled the author to accomplish this thesis entitled “Exploring the Students' Engagement on the Use of Novel as Learning Media in Extensive Reading Class.” This is submitted to fulfill the requirements for Thesis Writing at the English Education Department, Faculty of Educational Sciences and Teachers’ Training, Siliwangi University, Tasikmalaya. The research topic or problem to be discussed is students’ engagement and involvement in reading novels in extensive reading courses. I chose this topic because reading is a very important activity, and we can find a lot of information by reading. Novels can help many people build a new vocabulary, and with novels, there are several language styles and much knowledge in the reading that can attract readers' attention. This research aims to disclose students' engagement with novels in a course called Extensive Reading.

The author expects constructive criticism and suggestions from readers to improve this writing. Moreover, I hope this thesis will be useful for both the readers and me.
